Mr. Wood, Director,
Numismatic Society,
Broadway and 156th Street,
New York City.

Dear Mr. Wood:

Miss Dike has asked me to suggest to you a suitable student to learn the duties of assistant in your office. It gives me pleasure to call to your favorable notice Miss Gladys A. Kilpatrick, who graduated from this school in June, 1917, and has since been in attendance at Hunter College. She was commended by all of her teachers, while in this school, as being a strong, efficient and reliable girl. She stood high in both scholarship and conduct, held several school offices with distinction, and was a member of the Arista League, an honor society in the New York high schools based upon high attainments in scholarship and character. She was especially good in classic studies, and upon inquiry I find that the professors in Hunter College confirm our opinion of her ability and attainments.

Miss Dike says that you would like to have someone who knows German as well as the other languages. I think Miss Kilpatrick has some knowledge of French and Spanish in addition to Greek and Latin, and I think that it would be possible for her in a comparatively short time to get a good working knowledge of German.

I have asked Miss Kilpatrick to call upon you and you can judge for yourself in conversation whether she would meet your requirements.

Very truly yours,

Anna P. MacVay

Miss Anna P. MacVay
The Wadleigh High School
114th St.W. of 7th Ave.
New York City

Dear Miss MacVay:

I beg to thank you for sending Miss Kilpatrick round to see me. She was here yesterday and I had a long talk with her. I think that she has many of the requirements for which I am looking.

As I have some little time yet to make a decision, I am still waiting to see others so as to be able to make a better choice.

I appreciate what you say about Miss Kilpatrick and was much impressed with her.

Very truly yours,

Curator

Miss Anna McVay,
418 Central Park West,
New York City

Dear Miss McVay:

I am herewith returning the small Roman coin which I tried to clean. I have improved it somewhat but the corrosion has eaten into the metal so that it is impossible to restore it completely.

I saw Mrs. Brett the other day, and spoke to her concerning the list of coins illustrating the story of Vergil's Aeneid.

Very truly yours,

Curator

Mr. Howland Wood
The American Numismatic Society
Broadway and 155th Street
New York City

Dear Mr. Wood:

Please accept my sincere thanks for your kindness in cleaning up the Roman coin which I left with you a week ago. Its appearance has been greatly improved. For this favor and for all your kindness I am deeply grateful.

I am glad that you spoke to Mrs. Brett concerning the list of coins illustrating Vergil's AENEID. I hope before very long that I may be able to make an appointment over the telephone with Mrs. Brett when I may confer with her on the subject. My own knowledge of ancient coins is so limited that I shall be glad to profit by Mrs. Brett's extensive and highly specialized knowledge of the subject.

Again thanking you for your kind courtesy, I am

Very sincerely yours,

Anna P. MacVay
